

"HECKLERS" WILL MARCH IN PARADE

They Are Coming From Boston To Take Part In Suffragette Demonstration.

Washington, February 5.—Three of the original "hecklers" from Boston, Miss Margaret Foley, Miss Alice Carpenter, and Miss Frothingham, sister to Louis Frothingham, former candidate for governor, will be here to take part in the women's pageant. This news was received today. Reports that representatives of prominent Massachusetts families would be here on March 2 have stirred people at suffrage headquarters.

Miss Foley is one of the most active workers for woman's suffrage in the state and has been associated with suffragists for many years. Miss Carpenter is a member of a real old Puritan family of New England, and Miss Frothingham is a member of a family which has been called the "blue bloods" of New England.

Miss Foley and Miss Carpenter have the title "hecklers" for their work during the gubernatorial campaign of Louis Frothingham, when they followed him about and made the "heckles" of woman's suffrage prominent at his meetings. Miss Foley is said to be one of the most active workers for woman's suffrage in the country and will be heard at a number of meetings here.

Wyoming Leader Coming.
It was announced today that Mrs. Isabelle Campbell, wife of a former governor of Wyoming, will be here to take part in the pageant. Governor Campbell was chief executive of the state in 1892, when woman's suffrage was instituted in the state and Mrs. Campbell was closely associated with the movement. She will be a prominent figure in the pageant, suffrage officials here declare.

Ohio intends to be well represented at the big pageant, according to the report received here today from Columbus. A special train will leave there at 6 o'clock the night of March 2, en route to Washington and carrying the delegation from that state. All women who intend to come here for the inauguration are urged to take this train.

Banners, streamers, decorations and a band will be among the features furnished. Letters to people all over the state have been sent out telling of the big pageant here. Enthusiasm equal to a political campaign has been aroused, it is said, and it is proposed to make the Ohio delegation the "biggest and best of the pageant."

Agitation for having stores close the afternoon of March 2, to permit employees taking part in the pageant is meeting with great success. It is reported. Already three F Street stores have announced that they will close and others are expected to follow suit soon.

Finances In Good Shape.
It was announced today that financial arrangements for the pageant are in an excellent condition. Contributions are constantly coming in from all sorts of sources.

Mrs. Anson Mills has been appointed a member of the finance committee and is assisting greatly in placing the undertaking on a business basis.

Plans for filling as much time as possible with meetings are now being carried out. There were eight meetings yesterday and six more are scheduled for today. These include a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Building this afternoon, a meeting at the Public Library, and at the Lutheran Church, Thomas circle, tonight, and one at the Pension Office at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Complete details of the tabular system given on the southern steps of the Treasury Building have now been arranged and characters will be brought together as soon as possible. Rehearsals for the individual parts will be conducted in small halls. Whether or not a complete rehearsal of the whole for the entire pageant is doubted. It may be necessary to conduct this at night, it is said.

Stefansson Asks Aid.
Hopes to Have Canadian Government Back His Three-Year Explorations.

Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, with the object of having the Canadian government assist him in a three-year expedition through the "last unknown territory" to the north of Canada, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, discoverer of the "white Eskimos" of Coronation Bay, came to Ottawa and saw members of the cabinet. The explorer, a Canadian, wishes to go under the aegis of the Dominion government, so that the right of Canada to whatever land he may discover will be unquestioned. He saw the Hon. J. Roche, Minister of the Interior, today, and will confer with other ministers to ascertain to what extent the government will back his expedition.

Stefansson also made his official report to the Geological Survey and urged the government to protect the Eskimos from the troublesome results of partial civilization, including the spread of disease. He asked also that something be done to save the great caribou herds of the barren lands.

RAILROADS ASK HEARING ON BILL

Senate Said to Have Reported Measure With "Teeth in It."

Washington, February 5.—Concerned over the prospects of an early passage of a railroad physical valuation bill, the carriers today, through former Senator Faulkner, asked to be heard before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. The committee heard the report of the subcommittee, which has amended the bill as it was introduced by Congressman Adamson and as it passed the House, and then announced that a hearing would be granted Tuesday morning.

The committee declined to make the report of the subcommittee public. It is known, however, that the bill, as it has been amended in subcommittee, has "teeth" in it.

Senator La Follette has had a hand in the shaping of amendments, and the indications are that, when the bill comes out of committee, it will be an important and far-reaching measure.

The railroads will seek to delay the report of the committee on the bill and then to block it in the Senate at this session.

It has already passed the House and it is highly important at this time because of the movement of the railroads for a general increase in rates. The bill is determined to pass the House for passage this session.

In opposition to the railroad testimony against the bill Tuesday, he will have experts present in favor of it.

As amended, the bill seeks to meet the various decisions of the Supreme Court. Moreover, it contemplates that the Interstate Commerce Commission shall obtain data of every sort as to railroad values, but it does not preclude just what particular valuation shall be taken as a basis for rate-making.

This will obviate for the present a big controversy on the floor of the Senate over propositions as to just what is the proper method to value a road as a basis for rates, leaving this problem for future adjustment, either by the commission or Congress, or possibly by the courts.

SEEKING TO SELL CROWN JEWELS

They are completely indifferent as to the fate of Adrianople.

"The Cabinet is in a quandary," says the correspondent. "It knows that it will be compelled to cede Adrianople, and is only seeking some means to save its face. It is said that the coup d'état was only intended to occur after Kiamil Pasha surrendered Adrianople, but was precipitated by some mistake. Hence, the difficulty the ministry now is in."

"There is not a cent in the treasury, and there are no means of getting money until peace is concluded, and meanwhile, the country is drifting to ruin and bankruptcy."

A great antiwar demonstration occurred Sunday in front of the War Office, at which the Young Turks were publicly denounced as murderers and thieves. Mahoud Scheik Pasha appeared on the balcony and tried to make a speech, but was greeted with opposition.

The misery in the Turkish camps is indescribable. It has been bitterly cold, with a heavy snow, the soldiers are ill-fed and badly sheltered. Smallpox, enteric fever, dysentery and pneumonia have replaced Asiatic cholera.

"It is understood that the forces at Tebriz have been reduced to 120,000. The army is considered ample to defend the lines. Large reinforcements have been sent to Gallipoli, where there are now 70,000 men. There is talk of sending a force in the neighborhood of Rodosto to outflank the Bulgarians, but such a scheme is impracticable. In the present state of the Turkish organization the army would starve the moment it attempted to leave the coast."

"From a military and economic standpoint Turkey's position is hopeless. Nothing can prevent even worse misfortunes except immediate acceptance of the inevitable."

Enver Bey In Lead.
London, February 5.—Enver Bey, the young Turk leader, who brought about the resignation of Kiamil Pasha as grand vizier, is landing troops west of the Tebriz line, according to a dispatch to the Daily News from Constantinople.

In another dispatch the correspondent says all indications point to some separate attempt on the part of Enver Bey to distinguish himself. He is only chief of staff to the general of the division stationed at Bulair, north of Gallipoli, but the correspondent says he is the guiding spirit in a scheme to land troops in the neighborhood of Rodosto.

Turks Taken Prisoners.
London, February 5.—During a sortie by the Turkish troops from Adrianople today, 1,000 of them were taken prisoners by the Bulgarians, according to a dispatch from Sofia.

The bombardment of Adrianople, which opened on Monday, proceeded without interruption today.

A report was spread today that the Bulgarians had decided to suspend operations for twenty-four hours so as to give the Turkish garrison an opportunity of surrendering. This, however, appears to be without foundation, as are many of the stories spread broadcast in despatches today.

A message from Belgrade, Serbia, this morning speaks of the "heroic conduct" of a couple of Serbian regiments which participated in an attack on the outer circle of forts. There is no means of verifying this or any other reports as such fighting may be in progress taking place behind closed doors so far as the outside world is concerned.

Say They're Sincere.
Squabble over the Chinese, when questioned as to the double celebration, were emphatic in their declarations that their countrymen were sincere in their adoption of the Centennial New Year, and that only the old men and the women were adhering to the custom of their ancestral ancestors. A more satisfactory explanation probably lies in the statement of one of the leading Chinese merchants, who expressed the opinion that while it might be more progressive to pay $20 for a table at a cafe on the night of December 31, it is better business to celebrate in the old way on the same of the twelfth moon. For the old-fashioned celebration with flags and fireworks, several hundred men are expected to visit to Chinatown.

ALFONSO NOT COMING
Impossible for King of Spain to Visit United States.
Madrid, February 5.—King Alfonso of Spain will not visit America, according to an official statement which reads:
The King has displayed the greatest personal interest in the United States and would have been glad to have paid a visit there had it been possible.

SIGNAL CORPS HEAD TO RETIRE FROM ARMY

Washington, February 5.—After a life full of adventure and achievement, honored in the service of his government, Brigadier-General James Allen, chief signal officer of the United States Army, will on February 13 retire from active service, and go back to live the remainder of his life at his boyhood home in LaPorte, Ind.

General Allen has a military record of forty-one years, which reads like a novel. Himself of modest bearing, it is in the official, perfunctory records of the War Department that the full story of his adventures may be gleaned.

All the way from fighting on the old Indian frontier down to handling the highly scientific questions of development of military aviation and the wireless, General Allen has been in the forefront.

Allen graduated from West Point in 1872, and in the cavalry branch, immediately saw service in the Indian campaigns in the Middle West. In 1891 he was transferred to the Signal Corps, because of his unusual ability in arranging means for military communication.

Spanish War Record.
It was, however, in the Spanish-American War that the army officer established the reputation of the Signal Corps. For locating Cervera's fleet in Santiago Harbor and supplying the information which resulted in its destruction, Brigadier-General Allen received a letter of commendation from President McKinley.

"Colonel Allen," says the official military report, "furnished daily communication under the most difficult conditions. He reported that the Spanish squadron was short of coal and that he could not renew its supply in port. His efficient work enabled the navy to strike the blow that destroyed the entire fleet."

Brigadier-General Allen is very proud of the fact that the President notified of the destruction of the Spanish fleet, by his cable dispatches, fourteen hours in advance of any other official information.

He was ordered by the Secretary of War to destroy the Cuban cables. On the cable ship Arias, with a foreign crew and harassed by Spanish torpedo boats, he completed this perilous task. While working on the last of the cables, a Spanish ship opened fire on the Arias, and Allen's crew revolted. At the point of a pistol, he assisted by several other officers, forced the crew to work until the cable was cut in two places. At the close of the war, Colonel Allen restored the cables.

Head of Aviation Squad.
For the next three years he laid telegraph lines in the Philippines and kept communication from the interior parts of the islands open with Manila. Then he was ordered to Alaska to take charge of laying the Seattle and Alaska cable.

Since becoming chief signal officer, Brigadier-General Allen has been in charge of military aviation. He was instrumental in inducing Congress to make the first appropriation for an army aviation school. He purchased two aeroplanes, designated five aviators, and selected a site at College Park, Md.

Each year he has urged Congress to greatly increase the appropriation. He has fostered the science, and is secure in the knowledge that when he retires he will leave behind an aviation branch of the signal corps which, although not as large as that of many other nations, is considered by experts to be probably the most perfect.

NEW YORK GREETED IN OLD FASHIONED WAY
New York, February 5.—Can it be, after all, as set forth in the unconventional but expressive language of Mr. "Chuck" Conners, the oracle of Chinatown, that the story of the Chinese adopting the fashion of celebrating the Occidental New Year was pretty much "bunk"? The adoption of the Western calendar, it will be remembered, was among the many important changes ordered by the new government soon after the establishment of the republic of China. According to all reports, the Chinese were delighted with the change, and with all the zeal of recent converts they celebrated their New Year on January 1.

But it is evidently hard to break away from a custom that is centuries old. To-day marked the beginning of Sun Nin, or the old Chinese New Year, a season of celebration with the Chinese long before republics and reform administrations were dreamed of in the Flowery Kingdom. And in this fact, perhaps is to be found the reason why the local Chinese, in spite of queasy heads and occidental clothes, to-day went about their preparations for a fortnight of jubilation in precisely the same manner as they did before they hung the Caucasian calendar on their walls.

The narrow streets of Chinatown are bright with flags again, and great red placards bearing words of greeting are posted at the side of the doorways. Within doors immense pictures of the great men of China, peacock feathers and bright colors adorn the rooms, while immense quantities of nuts, candies, and imported wines and liquors, with generous pots of tea, are placed where callers may help themselves.

MYSTERIOUS WOMAN IN BISHOP DIVORCE
New York, February 5.—That James Cunningham Bishop, the millionaire banker, adopted a polite method in financing one of the women named as co-respondents by purchasing her paintings, on exhibition in a Fifth Avenue gallery, was one of the new charges that came to light today when Mrs. Abigail Hancock Bishop filed further affidavits in her suit for absolute divorce.

In addition to the society leader, "Mrs. A." is the woman of the paint-named as principal co-respondent, a mysterious Mrs. "A." described as an English woman or great from London in New York Newport and London, and a "Mrs. W." were added starters in Mrs. Bishop's race for a decree.

Bishop's main answer charges his wife with being habitually addicted to drink and drugs.

BATH TUB TROUBLES WORRY DEPARTMENT
Washington, February 5.—The bath-tubs of the battleship Maine, precisely at a premium. St. Joseph, Mo., according to reports received at the Navy Department today, does not want the tub. Nor does Urbana, Ohio. The Urbana tub now reposes in a hen house. It will be sent to Findlay, Ohio, which is regarded as a better asylum for dependent and unprotected tubs.

The situation has been complicated by a multiplication of bathing vessels. When one was sent to Urbana it appeared that the Navy Department had only one instance of this character. But there is now another tub, an officers' tub, to be disposed of. It is the latter that St. Joseph has turned down so coldly. The City Council refusing to appropriate the money where-with to reach the freight.

So far Findlay, Ohio, has not refused this emblem of cleanliness. The Navy Department is frankly hoping that it will keep it. To have one circulating bathtub on its hands is sufficient grief without adding to it a second itinerant tub of iron and porcelain, wherein to have the tub sent to itself.

If Findlay, Ohio, says put there will be hope of disposing of the second tub. Of course, the one sent to Urbana, now housed in the plover hen-coop, was the official property of Captain Sigbee. The other, the one on which the parade is to be held, was the property of the city.

Further Trouble In Coal Fields
It May Be Necessary to Return State Troops to Scene.
Charleston, W. Va., February 5.—The mine situation in the Cabin and Paint Creek districts of West Virginia is critical tonight. Sheriff Hill, of the Cabin Creek section, to-night requested that Governor Glasscock send Adjutant-General Elliott into Cabin Creek to investigate. Last night a condition of anarchy existed at Ames, a mining town. More than 200 shovels were fired from the mountain side into the town. Martial law has been declared twice recently in the coal fields of West Virginia. The last proclamation of Governor Glasscock never has been lifted. The troops were withdrawn gradually, but martial law still exists in that territory. Whether the West Virginia troops are to be sent back into the coal fields of Kanawha County seems to depend upon developments to-morrow.

Butter-From-Oil Company Fails to Sell Product and Quits.
Baton Rouge, La., February 5.—The Baton Rouge Oil Products Company, of Baton Rouge, N. J., has given up the job of making butter from oil, and closed its plant, throwing 100 employees out of work. The officials say the company's business has so decreased that there is no longer any excuse for continuing. This company may be a member of the oil trust, which has been making butter from oil three years ago.

St. Joseph Has Opened the Cold Faucet.
Bath-tub troubles may multiply, as the one now in the White House, installed four years ago, is several sizes larger than that required for persons of ordinary physique, and may daunt, with its board expense and generous depth, even the courage of a Princeton president. It has not been determined that this tub will be removed, however.

Washington, February 5.—William Jennings Bryan today agreed to accept the invitation extended to him by the inaugural committee to come to Washington and attend the inauguration of President-elect Wilson. The committee plans to appoint a citizens' committee of twenty to meet Mr. Wilson on his arrival here March 3, and Bryan may be a member of this committee. Mr. Bryan wrote the committee that he would do anything in his power to make the inauguration a success.
